Folding Monitor Mount

Only at ICW can you get mount designs that will bend over backward, or forward, as in this week's bulletin.

The photos in this bulletin come from a children's medical center. The users have a space-saving desk that swings out for use and then back under another desk to stow away. In order to have a monitor that works with this desk design, it's necessary for the monitor to stay out of the way when folding both desk surfaces together.

In addition to this desk configuration, this design is perfect for desks and boardrooms. Imagine having monitors around a conference table where the users can look at their monitor and use their keyboard for webinars, and then can easily fold down their monitors for a roundtable discussion or to look at a business associate and speak face-to-face.

Another example of ICW's industry-leading ingenuity.
